January 2008

San Diego County Property Sales Continued to Fall in 2007

We asked the question last year, after three years of falling sales, whether or not 2006 would prove to be the bottom of the market. And, the answer is in: NO! Of course, this begs the question of whether or not 2007 will prove to be the bottom of the market. Hmmmm?

None of the talking heads could have predicted the credit crunch that quite effectively reduced demand. I would say decimated demand, but, in reality, decimated means lopping off 10%. No, the credit crunch did more than that in the last half of 2007. Plus, we still have a plethora of adjustable rate mortgages rising upwards waiting in the wings.

Yet, there are still signs that this year may see the market finally hit bottom: Bank of America is buying Countrywide, which will provide stability to the mortgage market, and many Sovereign Funds are injecting liquidity into the mortgage market, albeit not through any altruism, but because they're buying assets for pennies on the dollar. Plus, the Fed will probably continue to lower interest rates, which will provide relief for consumer debt. Remember though, the Fed's actions have little if no effect on fixed mortgage rates.

On the the numbers. Sales of single-family, re-sale homes in 2007 were down for the fourth year in a row in San Diego County: falling 16.5%, a relief after the 23.4% drop in 2006. Condo sales were down 12.6%, compared to a drop of 26.1% in 2006. Another thing to remember, the lofty sales figures for 2002, 2003 and 2004, when sales peaked, where due to investor activity, not the simple supply and demand of people who wanted to buy homes to live in.

The median price for re-sale homes dropped 1.7%, the first drop since we've been keeping records: 1998. Of note, the average price rose 1.4%. This is a tale of two markets. The entry level market has been created by the credit crunch because buyers in this segment of the market depended upon no-doc and 100% financing loans to buy homes. These loans are gone, completely.

The $1,000,000 plus market has, therefore, become a larger percentage of total sales, which has had the effect of keeping statistical prices higher than reality.

Of course, statistical prices have absolutely no bearing on what your home is worth or what you can buy a home for. That depends entirely upon the agreement you make with the buyer or seller.

As you go through the various charts and tables in this report, you will see that the lower priced cities have, for the most part, suffered the greatest decrease in sales.

Will the market bottom out this year? Perhaps. Probably not before the summer. In any event, subscribe to this report and stay tuned.

C.A.R.'s California Housing Market Forecast for 2008

Statewide median price down, pace of sales decline moderates after tumultuous 2007

Home prices throughout most of California will post modest declines next year while sales of existing homes will stabilize from the precipitous decrease experienced in 2007, according to the CALIFORNIA ASSOCIATION OF REALTORS® (C.A.R.) "2008 California Housing Market Forecast".

The median home price in California will decline 4 percent to $553,000 in 2008 compared with a projected median of $576,000 this year, while sales for 2008 are projected to decrease 9 percent to 334,500 units, compared with 367,500 units (projected) in 2007.

"Tighter credit standards, affordability concerns, and a continued standoff between buyers and sellers will contribute to continued weakness in the market going into next year," said C.A.R. President Colleen Badagliacco. "Now is not the time for homeowners to 'test the waters' – only serious sellers should put their homes on the market in what will continue to be a challenging sales environment."

"Sales could decline more steeply in 2008 if the current liquidity crunch in the mortgage markets has a longer-than-expected duration or if interest rates unexpectedly increase," she said

"Geographically, more affordable regions such as the Central Valley and Inland Empire will experience greater softness in the resale market because of the large number of new homes coming onto the market in recent years," said C.A.R. Vice President and Chief Economist Leslie Appleton-Young. "Higher priced regions of the state, such as the San Francisco Bay Area and parts of San Diego, Los Angeles, and Orange counties will react more to affordability constraints."

"By price-range, the highest-priced markets – those with medians over $1 million -- will show less stress,"

she said. "The lower-priced markets will continue to face fallout from the subprime crisis, tighter underwriting standards, and competition from new home developments where price-cutting has been even more severe."

C.A.R. economists also projected a 23 percent decline in sales this year to 367,500 units compared with 2006, and a 3.5 percent increase in the statewide median price to $576,000. However, the projected increase in the 2007 statewide median stands in contrast to the situation in most counties, regions, and communities of the state, where slight to modest year-to-year percentage declines have become more prevalent and will continue next year.

Historically, the last time the sales level fell below 2007's projected 367,500 units occurred in 1995, when annual sales totaled 342,540 units. Sales last fell below 2008's 334,500-unit forecast in 1985, with 328,270 units. The last time the statewide median price fell was a 0.5 percent decline in 1996. The most recent statewide median price decline greater than 4 percent was a 4.5 percent decline in 1993.
